The Road to College: RCMA Students Prepare for Their Future

The road to college is not always an easy one, especially for first-generation students. Many face challenges along the way, from navigating the application process to balancing academic and family responsibilities. However, it's always inspiring to see students who take initiative and seize the opportunities available to them. At RCMA Wimauma Community Academy, students have the opportunity to apply to various programs offered in the Tampa Bay Area that offer free college readiness resources and preparation for higher education. As RCMA WCA continues to grow, we are proud to highlight some of our dedicated alums who are taking proactive steps toward their future education. This past Saturday, 9th & 10th grade RCMA WCA Alumni who are a part of the Prep and ME program rose bright and early to take the PreACT, a practice version of the ACT college entrance exam. The PreACT helps students familiarize themselves with the types of questions they will encounter on the ACT, a standardized test used by many colleges and universities for admissions. It also provides valuable insight into their academic strengths and areas for improvement, helping them better prepare for future college readiness milestones. These students are already setting themselves up for success by understanding the importance of academic preparation and perseverance. Their commitment serves as a reminder that with hard work and the proper support, the path to college is within reach. Students: Bryana Nava (9th - Lennard High School), Elizabeth Chavez (9th - Jefferson High School), Arlet Lopez (- Cristo Rey). Other students who were present but could not take a picture : Erick Espinosa (10th -Lennard Collegiate) , Jeray Ortega (10th - Lennard Collegiate)
